The Amazon is the largest river in the world in 21 of volume. 22 in South America, it is home to a number of strange 23 animals. One of the most famous creatures is the piranha. These fish, 24 bigger than a man's hand, are very ferocious. They travel in 25 and are attracted by the 26 of blood. Nothing in the water stands a 27 against them. Their razor-sharp teeth can strip an animal to the bone in seconds.

Another curious animal 28 in the Amazon is the electric eel. The eel is actually a fish and it is related to the carp. It can grow as long as 275 centimeters and weigh 22 kilograms. It can send an electrical shock through the water whenever it wants. 29 to popular belief, the electric eel cannot kill a healthy adult with its electricity. It can generate about 650 volts of electricity, 30 is only enough to give a man a good shock.
